“Shoot For A Cure” proceeds benefit Bracken Co. Cancer Support group

On Friday, February 8, the Bracken County High School served as host for the annual “Shoot for a Cure” event with Maria Cummins and Bethany Wolfe coordinating the activities under the supervision of their FCCLA sponsor, Lesley Duzan. Proceeds from “Shoot for a Cure” were presented to the Bracken County Cancer Support. This group provides gas cards to ANY BRACKEN COUNTIAN who has been diagnosed with cancer and is receiving treatment. The gas card is issued in an effort to aid in offsetting the cost of travel to and from the facility that administers the cancer treatment.

“Shoot for a Cure” is a complex endeavor that involves many hours of planning, calling, talking to local businesses, ordering/sorting, publicizing, and getting volunteers. The night involved 2 basketball games between Augusta Independent and Bracken County High School, cheerleaders presenting their routines, a silent auction consisting of donated items and homemade cakes, a cake auction with Perry Poe serving as the auctioneer, speakers addressing the issue of cancer, Bracken County Cheer Bears “passing the bucket” for a free-will donation by fans, and the Bracken County

Cancer Support members at a table with informational brochures/ items to be given away during the game. The night offered a time for fun as fans cheered their teams and laughed/talked with friends.

The Bracken County Cancer Support extends their deepest appreciation and gratitude for the hard work and dedication by so many people. The BCCS is afforded the opportunity to offer assistance to those battling cancer ONLY through the generosity of Bracken County citizens.

David Brooks, for years a member of the state legislature, had piloted to passage, legislature necessary for the location. The new capitol was named Brooksville and had its first court session Nov. 23, 1839. The courthouse erected at this time housed the judiciary for more than twenty years and was the county place of public assembly in these two decades of bitter controversy over the slave question that ended in an appeal to arms.

New buildings were erected in years 1860-62 in the opening years of that unfortunate conflict.

The brick courthouse, together with two brick and two frame office buildings, were wrecked to make way for the present building twenty-four years ago.

The jail of that time, remodeled, is still in use.

In the early year of the last century a bank, a railroad, a flour mill, telephone and lights, and some factories came to town. Fires took toll of the older wooden buildings to bring from their ashes modern business structures to house a growing trade. Passing years brought looseleaf warehouses and a second bank to disappear in the drastic years that followed.

Hard surface roads and streets, concrete walks and recently water are among the permanent gains.

Churches have grown from the occasional call of the traveling minister, holding services wherever shelter could be found, to four churches housing as many creed, with sustaining congregations.

Schools have progressed from the one room, three R subscription institute to a high school of twenty teachers, caring for six hundred and fifty pupils, and a parochial school with three teachers and sixty pupils.

The city's financial condition is sound, with a new city building and fire equipment.

Travel in Cumberland and Tennessee, to build civilization in the great valley. These fathers brought with them abiding faith in the right to life, liberty and deep dislike to more than necessary government supervision.

Here they founded a county that financially, first in the one hundred and twenty counties of Kentucky and probably first in the more than three thousand counties of the United States, is a home loving, friendly rural town, where today the drone of a plane sends no one to shelter.

"It's my job to know."

Douglas C. Crutcher, M.D.
HMH Radiologist

I never know what the day will bring me. But I do know this. I've trained and spent years practicing what to look for. The first half of any great patient outcome is an accurate diagnosis. Harrison Memorial Hospital has invested in technology which allows us to dig deeper, search harder and find what we're looking for. Our 64-slice CT scanner, our digital mammography, and our Dexascan technology each help to uncover the problem and then treat it early and effectively. Searching for clues is my job, and if you're looking for a hospital, I'd suggest you search no further.

Kelsch runner-up in County "AARP Grandparent of the Year" Essay Contest

Madison Kelsch, daughter of Robin and Angie Kelsch of Augusta Ind. School was that school's winner of the AARP Grandparent contest. This competition is one way to pay tribute to the significant contributions of older Kentuckians shaping the lives and values of children across the Commonwealth. In 2010, data from the Census showed nearly 87,000 grandchildren in Kentucky live with grandparents who are the householders. Almost 48,000 of these children live in homes where the grandparent householder is responsible for them. The Bracken County Retired Teacher's Association is the local sponsor of the competition. Madison's persuasive letter follows:

Dear Members,
Applause...Applause... I can hear everybody clapping for the new AARP Grandparent of the Year, Jimmy Long. The reason my grandpa should be Grandparent of the Year is because he entertains me, takes care of me, and teaches me. Please pick my grandpa, Jimmy Long for Grandparent of the Year.

Most of the time your parents have to work so they can't always entertain you that's when grandparents come and help out. There are a bunch of activities grandparents like to do with their grandkids. One of my favorite things I like to do with my grandpa is go fishing at Pioneer Lake. Almost every kid loves to play games! Some of my favorite games are Sorry Slider, Battleship, and Trouble. Sometimes when I feel really down, my grandpa would tell me knock-knock jokes, and tickles me. I hope you pick my grandpa for AARP Grandparent of the Year because he really deserves it.

Your parents can't always be there for you every second of your life that's why your grandparents come and take care of you. Barely any kids like to leave their parents because I know I don't. My first time staying with my grandpa I was really scared. He cheered me up by telling me stories, and jokes. I don't think any grandparents want their grandkids to be sick. When I was at my grandpa's house I was very sick, my stomach hurt, and I also had a headache, so he took me to the doctor and got me some medicine then I felt all better. The reason my grandpa should be Grandparent of the Year is because he takes time out of his day to take care of me.

Grandparents are not just known for entertaining you they can also teach you stuff that your school teacher doesn't have time to teach you. Busy parents don't have a bunch of time to teach you how to cook, but your grandparents won't care because they want you to be able to cook for your family. This is what he taught me to cook pancakes, spaghetti, and macaroni. Some grandparents want their grandkids to be able to make their garden nice and pretty. My favorite he taught me was how to plant tomatoes, peppers, and my grandma's favorite roses. Jimmy Long should be Grandparent of the Year because he taught me stuff I really wanted to learn.

I've told you everything about my grandpa, Jimmy Long, but it's even better when you meet him in real life. I hope you pick my grandpa Jimmy Long for Grandparent of the Year because he entertains me, takes care of me, and teaches me. Even if you don't pick my grandpa he will still be the best grandparent in the world.

Sincerely,
Madison Kelsch

Eye to Eye

with David Blandford, M.D.

SAVE YOUR TEARS

The millions of people who suffer from "dry-eye syndrome" experience more than simply low moisture levels in their eyes that cause a burning sensation. The condition also results in a change in tear ingredients. The mixture of oils, water, and mucus works to protect the eyes from infection by rinsing away foreign debris and keeping the eyes lubricated. Whether dry eye is caused by inadequate tear production or in the composition of the tears, either can be caused by aging, autoimmune disorders such as rheumatoid arthritis, side effects from medications (such as antihistamines), or eyelid problems. Thus, it is important that the ophthalmologist be given the opportunity to determine the underlying cause in order to prescribe an effective treatment.

"Whatever is has already been,
and what will be has been

Ecclesiastes 3:15

Time Is a Spring

Every day is a new day! Each day is literally a new creation, the unfolding of something divine. The sun rises and sets with only slight variations every day, just as the seasons return at their appointed time each year. Time literally pulses or oscillates, like a perpetual spring. Even the longer periods of time appear to have this characteristic oscillation. The universe is expanding, and will eventually reach the point of maximum expansion and start contracting, only to contract back to the point of a giant cosmic implosion, which will set the universe expanding again. But, time is also like a spring from which life-giving water flows. That is, time is a never-ending source of being. It continually flows and all beings arise within the fabric of time. Only the ultimate Being, God, is outside of time. As finite, temporal beings we cannot wrap our minds around the nature of time, and we might feel a bit like Einstein when he remarked that "the only reason for time is so that everything doesn't happen at once." Presumably for God all things are experienced simultaneously, but we can only imagine what that might be like. Time is truly a spring, a never-ending source of wonder.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN by Barbara Browning

Are you “too busy not to chill”? This was our message topic for the morning. We need to slow down and listen to what God is offering us. We need to lay our body down, lay aside our emotions, and take time to worship.

We will be having a Gideon speaker in our services, April 14th.

Looking ahead, we are having a video of our youths’ activities this past year in the evening service, April 28, followed by dessert.

May 5 we will have a Variety Show of Oakland talent in the evening worship service.

Prayer concerns include Juanita King, Zelma King, Ronnie King, Larry Wright, Richard Hamilton, Barbara Reed, Danny Brewer, Susie Sparks, Paula Buser, Anna Lee Clayton, Judy Monson, Ella Cummins, John McAlonan, Shawna McKenney, Penny Hubbard, Marge Logan, Eudell Hall, Phyllis Wolfe, Joan Fautz, shut-ins, cancer issues, armed forces, and our leaders. Sympathy to the loved ones of John "Bud" Goecke.

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

Last Monday Edythe Ware was laid to rest. Her visitation and funeral was held in the Presbyterian Church. The church was an important part of her life and it is appropriate that it be part of her going away party.

We had 53 present for worship Sunday. Earl Bush led the worship, Susie Hargett led the singing as well as singing during the serving of communion. Earl Bush and Larry England served communion. Jean Appelman had a run in with a pressure cooker and came in second best but she still made sure that the communion elements were prepared and that there was someone present who prepared the communion table.

Our adult Sunday School class is continuing its study of the book “Grace” written by Max Lucado. We will be finished with this study in a few weeks and then we will have another study begin.

The women of the church will be meeting Monday night for their monthly meeting and Connie Thomas will be responsible for the refreshments as well as the devotions.

Wednesday we will be having our monthly Bread Basket lunch. We will be grilling out for the next six months. Dick Behymer usually does the grilling but he had surgery recently and I would guess that he might be there ably assisting Howard Murray who will be doing the grilling. Come and join us Wednesday.

Maryalis Brindley and I visited with Milton Brindley this past Saturday.

SOURCE OF TITLE: Being the same property conveyed to Sue Carol Royal, acting by and through her Attorney in Fact, Regina Kiskaden, from Dorothy W. Collier, widow, on August 21, 2006 and recorded on September 8, 2006 in Deed Book 181, Page 414 of the records of the Bracken County Clerk's Office.

The property shall be sold to the highest and best bidder(s) and said purchaser shall be required to pay cash or the sum of ten percent (10%) of the bid price in cash deposit with the balance of the purchase price to be due and payable in cash or certified funds, within thirty (30) days from the date of sale. The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety, bearing interest at the rate of 12% per annum from the date which is thirty (30) days following the date of sale, until paid, and payable to the Master Commissioner.

The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal together with all accrued interest thereon. If the total purchase price is not paid in cash, the required deposit shall be applied to any expenses incurred by a default of the purchaser. Provided, however, in the event a party of this action is the successful bidder at the sale of the property by the Master Commissioner, then the said party, upon payment of the court costs and sale expenses and any liens or judgments that have been given priority herein over the lien and judgment of said successful bidder/party, shall have its bid credited against its judgment herein.

If the purchaser(s) fails to comply with the terms of the sale then, in such event, the Master Commissioner shall immediately resell the property upon the same terms and conditions as set forth herein, excepting only any necessary changes in the time and date of sale. Possession of the property herein sold shall be given to the purchaser after payment in full of the purchase price and confirmation of the sale by the Bracken Circuit Court. Pursuant to the Judgment herein, the purchaser shall be required to assume and pay all ad valorem property taxes assessed against the property for 2013 and all subsequent years thereafter. The title interest of the parties to the lawsuit will be conveyed without warranty by the Master Commissioner to the purchaser and the purchaser shall receive a deed to property upon payment of the purchase price in full (and costs of sale, if applicable) and after confirmation of the sale by Bracken Circuit Court, subject to any equity of redemption if the property does not sell for two-thirds of its appraised value.

TRASH TALK

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug

606-735-9960

Howdy Folks! This is one of those Mondays when the brain seems to mimic a computer that has crashed and absolutely nothing will work! There are a thousand topics that can be discussed, but typing them into coherent phrases onto a computer screen is presenting a challenge! It seems impossible, but today Bin and Bug have been married for forty-six years and as we celebrate this day we can't help but recall so many milestones of happy and sad, good and bad, but like so many of you, we look forward to travelling together whatever path the good Lord has chosen for us! We cherish the family God has given to us and know that with so many members, life will continue to be interesting and unpredictable!

Spring weather is always unpredictable in Kentucky and while the meteorologists are calling for warmer weather this week, showers are also in the forecast. Our Litter Patrol Groups have two more weeks to get their assigned road miles cleaned, so please be aware of their presence on the highways and drive cautiously. Earth Day is right around the corner, Monday, April 22 to be exact, and we beg those of you who litter to reconsider! Stop and think before tossing that can, bottle, fast food bag and even soiled diapers out the window! Most folks choose to obey the law and do not litter, but there are those who consider themselves above civil law and nature's laws. Those few litterbugs consistently toss the same type of trash out on a regular basis which could net them a fine of up to $500. That cost is small compared to the price our environment pays for the litterbugs' laziness and lack of concern for future generations. If you are a litterbug, make today the first day that you change your littering habit! Your descendants and Mother Earth will be forever grateful!

Earth Day began in 1970 and has grown into an international day to celebrate the earth and to get folks to think about the impact their actions have on the environment by getting folks to re-think their habits and exam their lifestyles to make small, but very significant, changes at home and at work. Everyone's circumstances are different, so it is up to the individual and their family to make the changes that are beneficial to them and the earth. Changes can be made in conserving home energy use by unplugging unused appliances. Cell phone and electronic chargers pull electrical power even when not being used and these can be plugged into a power strip to be switched on and off as needed. Combining errands can save fuel and lessen the amount of unhealthy exhaust fumes contaminating the air we breathe. It is easy to say that as an individual, my actions won't make a bit of difference, but when combined with the efforts of those in our own community, nation and worldwide, huge differences can be achieved! A 'Google search' of Earth Day will provide you with a wealth of ideas and information and with this international day of celebration just a couple of weeks away, why not gather the troops, brainstorm and agree on your family's battle plans to make life saving plans for Mother Earth? As citizens of this planet, we have been given the responsibility to care for the environment while we dwell here, be it 20, 50 or 100 years so make the most of your earthly stewardship by RECYCLING, REUSING and REDUCING to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seen' you – Bin & Bug.

The property shall be sold to the highest and best bidder(s) and said purchaser shall be required to pay cash or the sum of ten percent (10%) of the bid price in cash deposit with the balance of the purchase price to be due and payable in cash or certified funds, within thirty (30) days from the date of sale. The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal together with all accrued interest thereon. If the total purchase price is not paid in cash, the required deposit shall be applied to any expenses incurred by a default of the purchaser. Provided, however, in the event a party of this action is the successful bidder at the sale of the property by the Master Commissioner, then the said party, upon payment of the court costs and sale expenses and any liens or judgments that have been given priority herein over the lien and judgment of said successful bidder/party, shall have its bid credited against its judgment herein.

If the purchaser(s) fails to comply with the terms of the sale then, in such event, the Master Commissioner shall immediately resell the property upon the same terms and conditions as set forth herein, excepting only any necessary changes in the time and date of sale. Possession of the property herein sold shall be given to the purchaser after payment in full of the purchase price and confirmation of the sale by the Bracken Circuit Court. Pursuant to the Judgment herein, the purchaser shall be required to assume and pay all ad valorem property taxes assessed against the property for 2013 and all subsequent years thereafter. The title interest of the parties to the lawsuit will be conveyed without warranty by the Master Commissioner to the purchaser and the purchaser shall receive a deed to property upon payment of the purchase price in full (and costs of sale, if applicable) and after confirmation of the sale by Bracken Circuit Court, subject to any equity of redemption if the property does not sell for two-thirds of its appraised value.

April comin' up double-double for Louisville, Western and Kentucky

As NCAA officialdom was salivating over its 70,000 ticket sale sessions at the Georgia Dome rounding up another successful basketball tournament season last week, the University of Louisville was celebrating a more rare and delicious double-double-double of its own.

- Final Four pay-days for men's and women's programs.
- Extended PR sunshine, compliments of Kevin Ware's leg cast and attitude; and Shony Shimmels' Show and roots to the Rez.

Add in ...

- Naismith Hall of Fame election for Rick Pitino.
- Goldencents, a Kentucky Derby possible that won the Santa Anita Derby last weekend.

Headlines call it Rick Pitino's horse. But credit the majority owners celebrating that they let Rick Pitino buy in five per cent's worth.

IN LEXINGTON

- Keeneland opens Friday.
- Kentucky's new beginning Blue-White football game is Saturday.
- April 16 is NCAA deadline for applicants to withdraw from the NBA draft. Nerlens Noel and Archie Goodwin? Bye! No press conference on campus please!
- Next! Best recruiting class in basketball history. Possibility that Calipari's new cast gets Fab 'never won anything' Five myth off ESPN air, will be welcome.
- Big buzz: Calipari's roster; and how many days until Big Blue Madness? With or without Goodwin or Anthony Wiggins, and despite Louisville playing for the NCAA championship, one teevee talking head's analysis was neither outrageous or ill-timed. "Kentucky," he said, "even though it didn't even make the tournament this season, will open next season ranked number one in the country."

Evidence to support: 6-9 Julius Randle may remind fans of Jamal Mashburn; 6-10 Dakari Johnson runs the floor like, well, Willy Cauley-Stein; Aaron and Andrew Harrison are magic and reasons why Goodwin and Harrow are gone. Add returnees Kyle Wiltjer, Cauley-Stein and Alex Poythress, and continue the countdown to October 15.

IN BOWLING GREEN

- Hilltopper basketball fans are in full anticipation mode awaiting Ray Harper's next full roster as WKU prepares for a fan-friendly adventure in C-USA.

- Football. Camp Bob Petrino report is the Hilltoppers have never experienced a "hurry up and no time for nonsense!" pace put in place by the fellow who been there, done that at D-I and the NFL.

LOUISVILLE SPRING

While Rick Pitino almost outsmarted himself against Wichita State and Luke Hancock, in spite of Russ Smith, saved the Cardinals' bacon, back in Louisville, it was cha-ching business as usual. Cash-in on sophomore Kevin Ware's celebrity was, with or without director of athletics Tom Jurich's okay, shameful.

Ware's 15 (minimum) minutes of fame was made into a hot-hot item at the campus bookstore. Leg-in-cast image and jersey number ironed onto tee-shirts, $25 a pop. Cha-ching!

Except Kevin Ware receives zero compensation. Louisville's director of athletics should get at least a phone call from NCAA police for allowing Or pleading no responsibility for campus bookstore owners profitting on Ware windfall (no pun intended).

Fall out? Ware's travel-and-teevee-show schedule was a feel-good story, but the tee-shirt episode makes him latest puppet and poster boy for screamers about exploitation of college athletes.

Meanwhile, so-called main stream media's lasting fascination with 'total' package monies cashed in by NCAA and ball coaches while student-athletes get (only) a scholarship, I wonder, where's watchdog reporting on destinations of profits? If Rick Pitino's pay is any of our business, shouldn't what he spends it on be newsworthy too?

Why this is important: Universities pay ball coaches and administrators astronomically well (Tom Jurich $1.4 million a year, according to USA Today), invest lavishly in athletics and marketing, then have audacity to charge fans privilege-fee to buy tickets, along with increase ticket prices to games. Across the street, another tuition hike for families increasingly less able to send children to college. Being squeezed out leaves higher education to a privileged class.

End of story? No. While million-dollar men Pitino and Walz in Louisville, Matthew Mitchell and John Calipari in Lexington will receive bonuses and contract extensions, none is news conference answerable for graduation rates.

Meanwhile, officials at both (most) universities continue to exhort alumni and friends to "support your university. Send money."

BOB KNIGHT

Hall of Fame coach Bob Knight was in the news again last week. Curious how critics are ever anxious to assign The General to history's scrap-heap, but are equally anxious to resurrect him when a chair is tossed or a Mike Rice-Rutgers video becomes top story at Sports Center.

When the Rice assault video surfaced Knight was asked to comment, but declined (wouldn't you?), whereupon he was barbecued (again). Predictably, the Rice video sent columnists across the land into spasms of outrage instead of investigating if the Rutgers episode is one of a kind.

To me, criticism of Bob Knight for his demons, bad decisions at times, and overheated passion to win, brings the awful necessity to look into a mirror. How many of our lives are void of Bob Knight bad moments and regrettables?

To hate on Bob Knight is folly. For me, he is a reminder to have good sense to look in a mirror now-and-then. And a reminder ...

Answers to 4-4-13 puzzle.

Crappie time when warmer weather arrives

This past March set 17 records for lowest minimum daily temperature in cities across Kentucky. On many nights into the last weekend of March, the low temperature dropped into the mid-20s.

At this time last year, Kentuckians basked in shirt-sleeve weather in one of the earliest spring warmups in a long, long time. The spring fishing season started weeks earlier than usual.

The opposite is true this year. The fishing season is behind several weeks. With balmy weather on tap for the next week and half, the peak of the spring crappie fishing season is within sight.

Crappie season is knocking on the door. Don't get left out in the cold.

The current license year expired Feb. 28, 2013. You'll need to buy a new fishing license, available in the sporting goods section of department stores and tackle shops. Licenses and permits may also be purchased online from the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife homepage at fw.ky.gov or by calling 1-877-598-2401.

Water damage to homes is major culprit as storm season approaches

As the region begins to shed its winter weather conditions and move steadily toward traditional spring-time rains, Kentuckians are reminded that strong storms – and the potential for floods – may soon also be on the way. According to the National Weather Service, flooding causes more damage in the United States than any other severe weather related event. Nationally, nearly 100 lives and an average of $5 billion in property losses are lost annually due to flooding. As such, Kentucky Farm Bureau (KFB) urges homeowners to evaluate the risk for storm damage on their property and take precautionary steps to lessen or eliminate the destructive effects of flooding.

KFB Insurance provides flood coverage through Southern Farm Bureau Insurance and the Federal Government's flood insurance plan. This coverage protects those in flood plains – areas prone to flooding that are often near rivers and creeks that rise. During the past five years more than 720 Kentucky home- and farm-owners were protected by flood coverage and, as a result, received approximately $11.25 million in claims payouts to repair their property damages. While many of these claims were the result of several storms occurring in different years, occasionally a single, strong storm powers through the state and causes significant damage to a targeted area. Such was the case in south central Kentucky in May 2010. More than 285 claims and $6.25 million were tallied in that year alone, most of which were caused by a single storm.

KFB knows, however, that homes and farms are not the only sources of claims and property loss when it comes to water damage. During the past five years, KFB Insurance also paid out more than $5.5 million on nearly 700 automobile flood-related claims. Approximately $1.3 million and 215 auto claims were handled by KFB Insurance when widespread flooding hit Jefferson County in August 2009 after a single storm. While KFB is proud to help so many Kentuckians recover after suffering through storm damage, restoring and replacing property is a hefty venture for those without flood insurance. Most home and farm policies do not automatically include coverage for flooding, so property owners must be aware of flood plains in relation to their homes. Home and farm owners should ask their agent about specifically adding flood coverage to their policies to avoid an expensive disaster when storm waters surge.

Even residents living in areas that are not prone to flooding can make small improvements around the home and farm to help prevent surface water damage, which is typically not covered under a standard insurance policy. Listed below are some helpful tips for making a property more water resistant:

Redirect downspouts away from the foundation of the home and extend the tubing to carry the water further away than the typical gutter system allows.

Keep all gutters and downspouts clear of debris that will cause the roof-lining troughs to fill with excess water, overflow and fall instead onto areas close to the foundation.

Reshape landscaping around the foundations to slope downward, directing water away from the house.

Caulk any cracks seen around the foundation that might allow seepage into a basement or crawlspace.

Unfinished basement walls can be sealed internally with specialty applications found at most home improvement stores, but may require continual review and maintenance over time.

Install a sump pump and foundation drain system to force water out of the area in and directly under a house.

Despite their best efforts, though, homeowners cannot always prevent water damage. For times like those, it is also wise to have copies of important documents and photos of your home, farm and other possessions on file somewhere off site, like a bank safety deposit box, for reference and insurance purposes if personal property is destroyed or washed away.

Of course, flooding can do much more than just damage property – floods occasionally claim lives, too. The National Weather Service points out that just six inches of water can sweep a person off of his or her feet, and that two feet of water is enough to lift and move a car, even an SUV. More people drown in their cars than anywhere else during a flood. If the water covering the road is more than a few inches deep, it is best to find an alternate route – even if it takes longer to reach the destination. What appears to be a short drive through rising waters could end up preventing more than just a person reaching the other side of the road – it could cost a life.

When storms hit Kentucky, it is important to follow news updates on the television or radio and pay attention to the warnings that are issued. As organizations like KFB support Flood Awareness Week (March 18-22) and Severe Weather Awareness Month (March), Kentuckians are also advised to create emergency plans and kits for situations like floods and other natural disasters. To learn more about how to start a plan and what to include in an emergency kit, visit ready.gov.
